

SUZUKI Yoshinari

Industrial Development Officer, Division of Decarbonization and Sustainable Energy, United Nations
Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO)

Nationality

Japanese

Career History

Yoshinari Suzuki is an industry development officer in the Division of Decarbonization and Sustainable Energy at the United Nations Industrial Development Organization in Vienna, where he has worked for the past three years. His work focuses on industrial decarbonization through design and implementation of renewable energy and energy efficiency projects in African countries. Before joining UNIDO, he worked for eight years in private and public sectors including the embassy of Japan in Senegal.

Areas of expertise

Suzuki completed a Masters in Energy Economics with a focus on energy market at Montpellier University in France.